Selenium feed supplements don't do what Dura Se-120's high technology bolus does.

Dura Se-120[®]

(SUSTAINED RELEASE SELENIUM BOLUS)

3 mgs selenium per day through 120 days

Selenium deficiency can lead to mastitis, reduced fertility, abortions, ill thrift and poor disease resistance. Some farmers use feed supplements but selenium may become inactive in storage or cattle don't eat uniformly.

Dura Se-120's delivery system features:

- a high technology pump which releases the FDA-approved maximum 3 mgs of selenium per day
- a sure, reliable source of selenium
- no meat or milk withdrawal

- easy oral administration with a standard balling gun

Feed additives can't assure your cattle are receiving the maximum allowable selenium.

Dura Se-120 can!

Dura Se-120 is available through your animal health supplier or veterinarian. For more information contact Schering-Plough Animal Health, Dept. JF, P.O. Box 529, Kenilworth, NJ 07033.
