

AABP Foundation-Zoetis Scholarship Awards and Amstutz Scholarship Auction

Friday, September 15, 2017
Omaha, Nebraska

The AABP Foundation and Zoetis partnered to award 12 scholarships to veterinary students who will graduate in 2018. The AABP Foundation-Zoetis Veterinary Student Scholarship program was established to recruit outstanding students into careers in bovine veterinary medicine. In addition to a $5,000 scholarship, each recipient was invited to attend the 50th AABP Annual Conference in Omaha, Nebraska, September 14-16, 2017 and was provided a stipend for travel and housing.

Recipients were honored at a dinner Friday, September 15. The sources of the funds for these scholarships were Zoetis and individual AABP members who participated by designating the Veterinary Student Scholarship when provided the opportunity to contribute to the recruitment of future colleagues.

The recipients of the 2017 AABP Foundation-Zoetis Veterinary Student Scholarships and their respective schools are:
Maxwell Beal, Kansas State University
Ben Bennett, Kansas State University

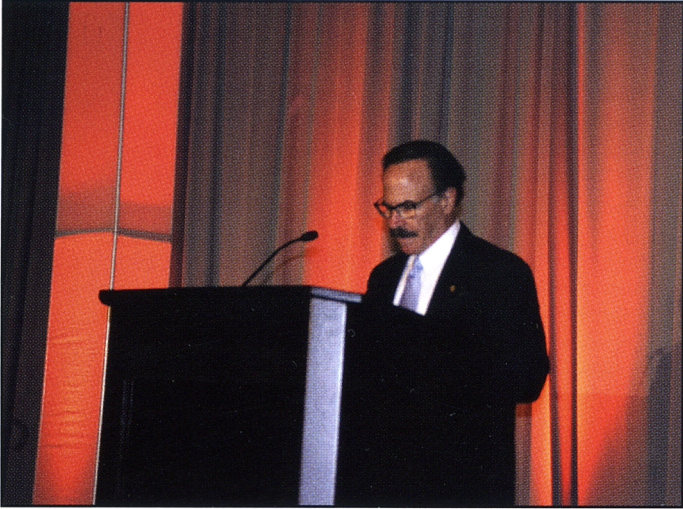

Sarah Cook, Louisiana State University
Kevin Gavin, Washington State University
Lora Gurley, Michigan State University
Joseph Hammes, University of Minnesota
Cade Lockett, Texas A&M University
Ethan McEnroe, University of California, Davis
Michelle Mitchell, Purdue University
Delaine Quaresma, University of California, Davis
Brian Schnell, University of Wisconsin-Madison
Lauren Thompson, Texas A&M University

The AABP Foundation wishes to offer congratulations and best wishes to this group of deserving students.

Virginia Fajt, DVM, ACVCP, PhD
Chair, AABP Foundation Board of Directors

*Pictured are the 2017 AABP Foundation-Zoetis Scholarship Award winners.
Back row (L-R): Kevin Gavin, Max Beal, Cade Lockett, Ben Bennett, Joseph Hammes, Ethan McEnroe, Brian Schnell.
Front row (L-R): Dr. Roger Saltman (Zoetis), Lauren Thompson, Sarah Cook, Delaine Quaresma, Lora Gurley, Michelle Mitchell, Jon Lowe (Zoetis).*

Dr. Roger Saltman presides over the Friday evening activities.

Master auctioneer Bryan Mergen, Zoetis Animal Health, energizes the crowd for a record setting auction.

Zoetis Animal Health presents a commemorative gift to AABP to celebrate the organization's 50th anniversary. Pictured are Drs. Roger Saltman (Zoetis), Mark Thomas (AABP President), Fred Gingrich (AABP EVP), and Mr. Jon Lowe (Zoetis).

